7. Project Documentation Phase

Objective

To record the complete project process, configuration, testing evidence, and final outcome in a clear and reusable format.

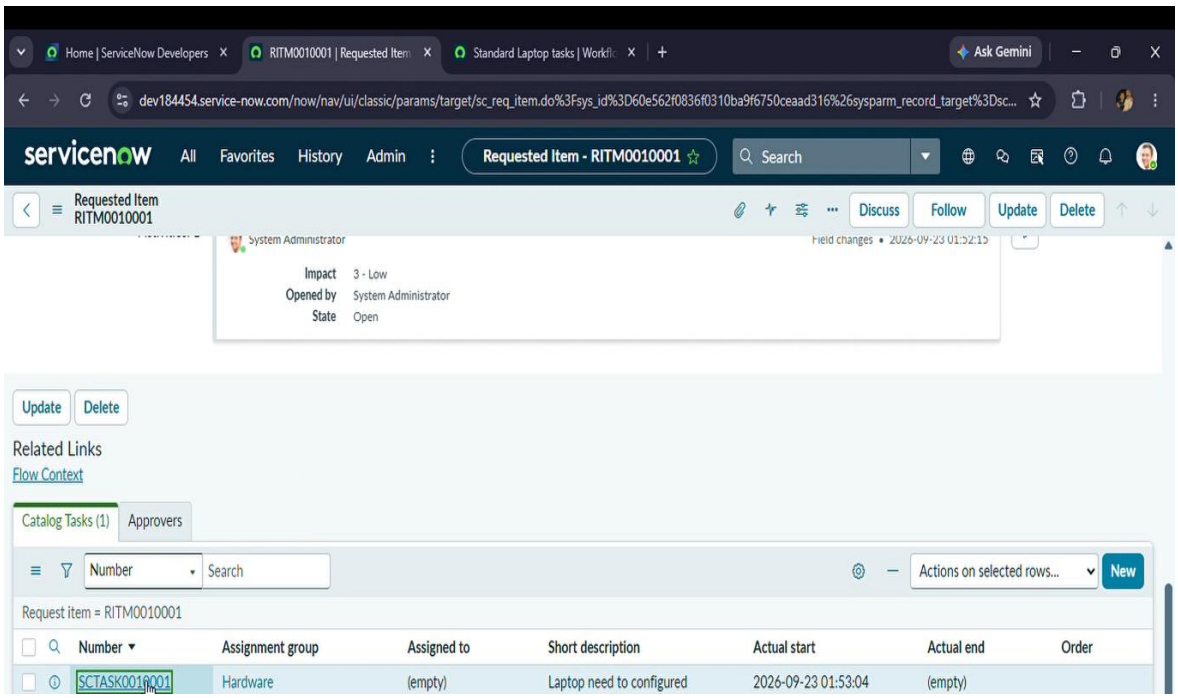

Activities Performed

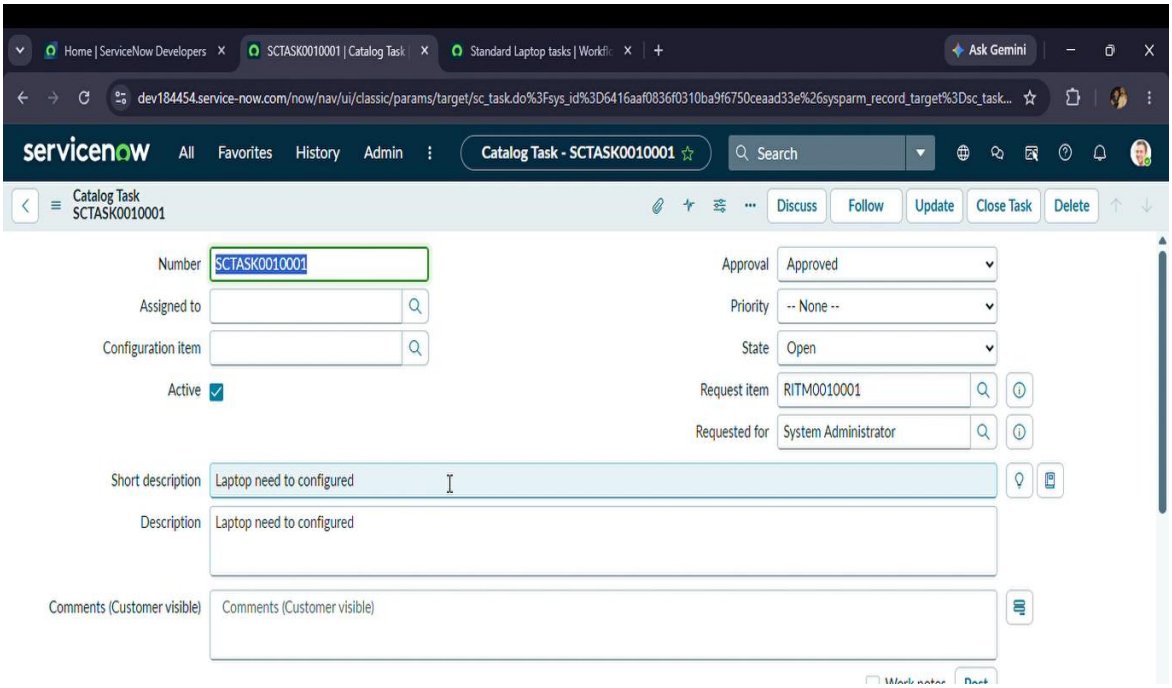

- Document the project title, objective, scope, and problem statement.
- Document each project phase from ideation through demonstration.
- Describe the requirements and workflow design.
- Document the Flow Designer configuration and important automation steps.
- Include screenshots as evidence for configuration and execution.
- Document test scenarios and observed results.
- Record the final outcome, limitations, and possible future enhancements.

Expected / Produced Output

This document provides the phase-wise record of the project and can be used as the final project documentation.
